

As a licensed amatuer and a developer of a satellite for education, I have found that the current requirement is unworkable in practice. This is especially true when coordinating with government agencies for the actual launch.

The proposed modification developed by AMSAT is reasonable and will make the administrative burden less on the FCC and the satellite operators. I support the changes requested in RM-10621 and hope that they are placed into practice as soon as possible.

Stephen J. Horan, AC5RI